

SIMON SWANSON

Managing Director, CommInsure

Simon Swanson is an internationally experienced financial services executive having lived and worked in Australia, Singapore, The Philippines, Fiji and New Zealand. In addition, he has completed assignments in such diverse places as the Middle East and North Asia.

Simon has worked with the Commonwealth Bank Group since 1980. His skills and experience cover general management, distribution management, marketing, investment, strategic planning, consulting, client services, information technology and finance.

Simon has built strategically successful and profitable businesses across a wide spectrum of financial services businesses and a wide range of countries. The diversity of businesses managed includes start ups, existing businesses and acquired businesses.

During the 1990's Simon held senior management positions in a number of companies in Asia and the Pacific. This included a wide variety of roles from consulting assignments to line management positions, to acquisitions and start up businesses. He was Managing Director of the Commonwealth Banking Group's business in Fiji, Managing Director of Sovereign in New Zealand and currently Managing Director of CommInsure for the last three years.

Simon is 50 and married with two daughters.

16 June 2008.